

Dear Friends,

It's been some time since we've dined together, and Catering by Caltech Dining Services misses you! During this time of uncertainty, we hope you've been safe and well. Our teams have been steadily adapting our procedures and routines to ensure that you can dine safely with us.

Despite ever-present change, our core values at Catering by CDS remain steadfast:

- Collaboration – We seek to further deepen bonds that bind us to our campus family and to further create a culture of food-based community
- Innovation – We translate evolving campus needs into valuable services and invaluable experiences
- Execution – We dedicate ourselves to expertly achieve the vision of our clients

As campus slowly reopens, we're here to meet your dining needs. In the coming weeks, you'll find new menus and service guidelines on our website to help you safely navigate your catered meetings and events. Your well-being and that of your guests are paramount and will be reflected in our current selection of offerings so that you can dine with utmost confidence.

As always, our ultimate mission is to be your campus dining partner. We hope you'll openly approach us with your pleasures, requests, ideas, and suggestions. There is no ask too big or small for consideration, and we eagerly welcome conversations with you. Please check in with us often for new ideas, as we continue to transition alongside with you. Our virtual door is always open! Connecting with us remains nearly the same:

- Email – catering@caltech.edu

And when the time comes, we will, with grateful hearts, share greetings and stories in each other's presence over a cup of perfectly, brewed coffee. Until then, be safe and healthy.
